

MURDER WITNESS BRANDED PERJURER

GEM SUMGGLING LINKED WITH MORS DEATH

$3,000,000 DEBT TO BE REFUNDED

Property Revaluation to Make Possible New Bond Issues

RATE TO BE HIGH

Little Reduction Looked For By Larger Property Owners

Lima's $3,000,000 sewer indebtedness, resulting from the construction of relief, sanitary and intercepting sewers through the city, will soon be on the tax duplicate and refunding bonds issued by the city to take care of the notes soon to fall due.

This was indicated Saturday by the report that work on the revaluation of the city property is rapidly nearing completion. All the outside work has been practically completed. The Lima News learned Saturday and inside work may be completed within two months more.

Refunding operations whereby the big volume of notes outstanding can be changed into long term bonds have been held up because the property valuation of the city has made it practically impossible to handle the large yearly costs for interest and sinking fund requirements.

With the increased property valuation it will be possible to not only issue the bonds and start paying for the work that has been largely completed for some time but will also permit the city to start discussions regarding the installation of a sewage disposal plant, it is believed.

A lower tax rate is not looked for by larger property owners, it is understood, as they believe that the cost of paying for the improvement program will be so great that by the time the city has obtained the amount of money necessary to carry on the heavy interest and sinking fund charges the rate will be approximately where it has been during the past two years.

Members of the county budget commission, which body has the setting of the tax rate in charge, are expected to meet as soon as definite figures can be obtained as to the probable tax duplicate in the city. This will be necessary, it is pointed out, before the rate can be fixed.

Thru vote of the commission the sewer system will be placed on the general tax duplicate rather than be collected by special assessment. Under the plan proposed a fairer distribution of the cost will be obtained, it is believed.

BANK HELD UP

Illinois Institution Robbed of $10,000 By Bandits

FREEBURG, Ill. — (By Associated Press) — A series of bank robberies in southern Illinois was augmented late Saturday when seven men held up the First National Bank of Freeburg and escaped with approximately $10,000.

Five men entered the bank while two remained outside in a motor car. They escaped under fire from a riot gun in the hands of the bank's president. No one was wounded.

This was the twelfth bank robbery in this section with in a period of four months. Only Friday four bandits obtained $5,851 from the Venice, Ill., State Bank. Members of the Illinois Bankers' Association met at Edwardsville to consider drastic measures in an effort to stop the epidemic of holdups.

MISS OHIO IS TO BE CROWNED THIS WEEK

COLUMBUS—With the stage all set for the biggest event of its kind held in the state, the crown Sunday will be drawn up on the seventy-fourth annual Ohio State Fair.

Of the many events arranged for the week, the crowning of "Miss Ohio," Mrs. C. P. Wickham, of Norwalk, queen of the Ohio State Fair, is expected to be one of the most magnificent. Selected from a field of 2,000 entries, Miss Ohio will be the most beautiful girl in the state during the week. Entertainment has been arranged especially for her and officials will be on hand to see that she is crowned to the queen of the state.

TEXAS WOMAN IS WINNER IN RACE FOR GOVERNOR

Anti-Klan Candidate's Nomination in Democratic Primary Is Declared by Election Board to Be Assured—Reports Indicate Heavy Vote

DALLAS, Texas — (By Associated Press) — Mrs. Miriam Ferguson, the first woman candidate for governor of Texas, apparently was assured of the Democratic nomination, the Texas election bureau announced at midnight.

The tabulation at that hour included incomplete returns from 180 counties and complete from 87 out of 252 in the state. Total tabulated 55,851. Mrs. Ferguson had 257,370 and Felix Robertson, the Klan candidate, 193,451. Election bureau statisticians estimated the total vote would be from 650,000 to 700,000. Many of the unheard of precincts were said to be in rural districts where Mrs. Ferguson was expected to show a lead.

Going into the lead with the first returns from today's Democratic primary, Mrs. Miriam Ferguson of Temple, anti-Klan candidate for the nomination and whose principal plea for support was for vindication of the Ferguson name from a judgment of impeachment of her husband, James E. Ferguson, when he was governor, increased her lead as reports flowed into the Texas election bureau Saturday night.

Reports were that the voting was heavy. The lines on the Klan and anti-Klan issues were drawn sharply.

Robertson admitted the Klan support, and James E. Ferguson, who conducted the campaign for his wife, arraigned the Klan in virtually every speech he made. Robertson denied the Klan was a vital issue, declaring it was a smoke screen laid down to hide what he said was the real issue of prohibition.

That a woman was the anti-Klan candidate and possible the Democratic nominee for governor of Texas, was due to the impeachment of Governor Ferguson about seven years ago in his second term. He was accused of so handling state funds that he derived personal gains and with trying to have members of the faculty of the state university discharged. When impeached the state senate passed judgment he should never again hold public office in the state.

In telling why she was a candidate Mrs. Ferguson said it was in an effort to gain an answer to her prayers that the name of her husband, her own name and that of their children and grand-children be vindicated of the stigma of the impeachment judgment. She said she did not seek revenge, and would not be a candidate again if vindicated.

Arrangements for opening Democratic headquarters were perfected by Joseph M. Madigan, secretary of the county executive committee Saturday. Three rooms at Democratic parlors on account of his extensive acquaintance with voters thruout the county.

BOOZE FOUND IN HANDLE OF OLD CARPET SWEEPER

CINCINNATI — An innocent looking old time carpet sweeper devoid of its sweeping device, proved to be an unsatisfactory cache for "moonshine" whisky Saturday. Detectives entered the home of John Walton and searched the place from basement to garret. On leaving, one of the detectives grabbed the handle of the sweeper, picked it up and five half pint bottles of supposedly illicit liquor dropped out. Walton now faces a charge of possessing liquor.

COMPETITION TO BE KEEN IN BIG OHIO BEAUTY CONTEST

Competition among the young women of this state for the honor of representing the state of Ohio at the International Petroleum Exposition at Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 2-11 is certain to be keen.

The Lima News, conducting an exclusive contest to pick one of Ohio's fair daughters for this great honor, has had scores of inquiries and a number of entries together with requests from Lima girls who desire to have their pictures taken for entry in the contest.

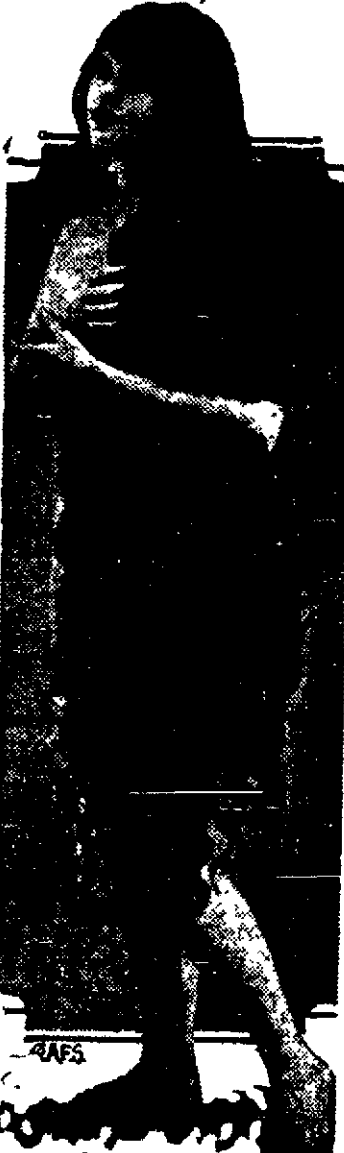

The contest is one of the most dignified ever held in Ohio. There is nothing in connection with it that any girl will find objectionable.

Entrants have only to submit their photographs to be in the race. There is no voting, no expense, no undesirable features. And above all, there are no strings tied to the contest.

The girl who is chosen from among those entered will have a fine educational trip, all expenses paid, and will be provided with a chaperone from the time she leaves home until she returns.

One of the big features of the petroleum exposition, the biggest affair of the kind in the world, will be the Pageant of Princesses. On this occasion the beautiful girls chosen from the various oil producing states of the Union will grace the floats representing their respective states.

SHE SHUNS BOB

Very Simpson of Austin, Tex., who will be known as "Miss Texas," at the Atlantic City Beauty Pageant, will be a "different" type to worry the judges. She believes her flowing tresses will defeat the bobbed locks of her sister beauties.

PASTOR DEFIES AUTHORITIES

Church Near Pomeroy Locked But Services Held

POMERoy — (By Associated Press) — Defying county authorities who padlocked their tabernacle and arrested 42 members of the congregation on charges of contributing to the delinquency of their own children, followers of Rev. Thomas Spear, pastor of the Pentecostal Holiness church at Beach Grove, near here, Saturday night assembled for worship in the church yard.

Virtually the entire congregation, including the pastor, is under bond to appear in court Thursday morning to answer charges of encouraging their children to participate in immoral dances as part of the church service.

Rev. Spear, county prosecutor, warned Rev. Spear against holding any meetings until after the preliminary hearing. The pastor replied by announcing that services would be held Saturday night as usual.

Pending the hearing, the entire community has taken sides in the controversy between the church and state.

Prosecutor Davis charges that the officers who raided the tabernacle this week found young couples taking part in a frenzied shimmy dance on the platform shouting "Praise the Lord" to the tune of jazzy hymns, and that several couples lay on the floor, exhausted from the dance.

Mrs. Robert Nelson, a member of the cult, defended its method of worship in an interview, declaring that her girl Alice, 11, has danced herself into the Holy Ghost.

Rev. Spear said the congregation will enter court "singing praises to the Lord."

KID M'COY IS DECLARED PLOT VICTIM

Defense Attorney Connects Killing of Woman With Jewel Plot

U. S. PROBES CASE

Federal Agents Take Over Some Diamonds; Others Are Missing

LOS ANGELES — (By Associated Press) — Kid McCoy, former prize fighter, indicted for the murder of Mrs. Theresa W. Mors here August 12, stumbled into a jewel smuggling plot and a killing that landed him behind the bars, but McCoy knows nothing about either, according to a statement Saturday by R. D. Knickerbocker, attorney for the prisoner.

The jewels in the Mors collection, some of them already in federal and county custody, and a number of others still missing, most of them declared by United States government investigators to have been smuggled, are to be bulk large in McCoy's defense, his attorney said.

Federal officers admitted they still were trailing the missing diamonds, emeralds and rubies which they declared completed the Mors collection, but concerning which Albert A. Mors, divorced husband of the dead woman, says he knows nothing.

While the county officers are concentrating on evidence relative to the indictment of murder against McCoy and federal officers are hunting the missing precious stones, the defense, grouping the two angles under one head, is outlining a case that will tend to show that the killing of Mrs. Mors and the smuggling of the jewels were part of the same plot and that in this plot McCoy had no role.

WOMAN'S STATEMENT

The former fighter's attorneys also are building confidently on the sworn testimony before the county grand jury of Mrs. Eva Martin, apartment house neighbor of Mrs. Mors, who she said she saw one of two men running from the Mors apartment after the shot was fired that killed Mrs. Mors and that he was not McCoy, but Mors.

County investigators discount this evidence with the argument that Mors has set up an alibi for the night of the killing and that Mrs. Martin must be mistaken.

The legal battle is open Monday in Judge Charles S. Crall's court when McCoy comes to plead to the murder charge, three accusations of assault with intent to kill and four of robber growing out of his shooting ory in and near the Mors apartment shop the day Mrs. Mors' body was found in her apartment with a bullet in the brain.

The McCoy defense announced it intended to make an important motion Monday before the prisoner enters his plea, and to support it has summoned Frank Heron, acting foreman and G. Witherpoon, secretary of the grand jury that indicted him. It was hinted that the murder indictment would be attacked.

DROPS DEAD

NEWARK—George C. Kilpatrick, 51, general superintendent of the Rock Island railroad shops at Davenport, Iowa, fell dead here Saturday night. His death was attributed to the heat.

PETER PAN JUST CAN'T GROW UP

Age again gives way to youth, as Betty Bronson, 17, of Hollywood, and hardly known, is selected by James M. Barrie to play on the screen the part created by Maude Adams (left) on the stage. More than 100 screen actresses aspired to the role and submitted their photographs to Barrie.

STEAM ARISES FROM MARS

Existence of Atmosphere on Planet Proved

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. — (By Associated Press) — The presence of steam or vapor arising from melting polar caps and appearance of clouds on the surface, establishing the fact that atmosphere exists on Mars, have been the outstanding developments, in the study of the planet at Lowell Observatory here during the present observation, V. M. Slipher, observatory director said Saturday night.

The planet's surface is divided into red okre and blue green regions. The red portions have the same appearance as the earth's desert regions and are little affected by changing seasons but the blue green districts which some astronomers have contended were seas, show the changes at different seasons, declared Director Slipher.

The present theory is that blue green regions are vegetation, either forests, grass lands or great fields producing in season, for they later fade out and in some sections change to a chocolate brown color.

Changes in the dark areas, however, do not take place until the polar cap of snow and ice begins to recede, which substantiates the theory of vegetation, which appears to await water before showing growth. This is in keeping with the theory advanced by Dr. Lowell many years ago, Slipher added.

"While we have no proof whatever that Mars is inhabited by animal life of any kind, it is our belief that it is habitable as it has all necessary elements and conditions to sustain life," the director said.

Dr. W. W. Coblentz, of the United States bureau of standards, who for some weeks has been studying Mars from the Lowell Observatory, announces today that the temperature of Mars probably is lower than that of the earth but sufficiently warm to support vegetation and permit habitation.

Robbery Not A Joke, Lima Men Now Convinced

Reid McCauley, proprietor of the Quilna cigar store, and Glen Rohn, official of the Vapo Stove Co., are looking for the "gentleman" bandit who "stuck them up" and robbed them of $51.

They were at first convinced that the robbery, which occurred near J. B. "Jobey" Kaufman's cottage, near Celina, last Tuesday night was a joke, they decided Saturday night that it was not. Four days have passed, the missing $51 has failed to be returned, and the affair has now taken on a more serious aspect with the two men.

It all ended Tuesday night, when they were making their way on foot a short distance from the Kaufman cottage. The robber, who was well dressed but had his face hidden, flashed a gun on the two men, and relieved McCauley of $45 and Rohn of $6.

It is thought that the bandit was laying for Kaufman, for while he was taking an inventory of McCauley's belongings, he said several times, "Where's them rocks?"

By "rocks" it is thought, he meant Kaufman's two well-known diamonds.

GRAND JURY TO PROBE MYSTERIOUS DEATH

SANDUSKY — Altho Coroner Leblanc Saturday announced that he was satisfied that morphine in headache tablets of which the victim apparently took an over-dose, caused the death of A. D. Harlow, Indianapolis printer here two weeks ago, Prosecutor E. C. Krueger declares that he will conduct a grand jury probe of the death.

The prosecutor says he will determine whether the man took poison or whether it was administered to him. Harlow, a guest at Cedar Point, died under circumstances after being rushed to a Sandusky hospital. A post mortem failed to exactly fix the cause of the death. The man's stomach was sent to C. F. Long, Columbus chemist, who has now reported finding evidences of morphine poisoning.

He emphasized particularly that the kidnapping and killing occurred in the very neighborhood of the boys' homes, where they were known to most any on that night pass. He also stressed the drive of the death car about busy South Side boulevards in daylight and that they followed the main arteries of travel to the sections where they disposed of the body.

PLANS OF DISEASED MINDS "If ever a death vehicle went over the same kind of route driven by sane people, I never heard of it and I fancy no one else ever has," he said and added, "Why did they do it? For nothing."

"And the state says these boys are sane because they planned the crime. Well, man, the plan, idiots plan, animals plan, and even brains that function may plan. And here we have plans from the diseased minds of boys."

The pleader mentioned that Leob had helped newspaper reporters who worked on the case, when it was still a mystery.

"Was that criminal?" he asked, and answered by saying that "it was his experience that criminals shunned reporters, even when they were on the case."

STATE'S AGE IS ATTACKED BY BARROW

Testimony Assailed by Attorney in Plea to Save Leopold, Loeb

CALLED SLAYER

Speaker Declares Franks Killers Were Moved by No Motive

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — The youthful slayers of Robert Franks were admitted by every alienist who examined them, to be without emotional reaction, a directing force in the mind of any normal person, with the exception of one physician, "who sells his services for cash and peddles perjury." Clarence S. Darrow, bulwark of counsel defending Richard Loeb and Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., charged Saturday in pleading mercy for them before Judge Caverly.

"Every one of the psychiatrists on both sides of this case told the court that emotion furnished the urge and drive in life, that is, with one exception, Dr. William O. Krohn, who is not an alienist, but an orator," Darrow declared.

"But Dr. Krohn is not a physician. He has been employed to professionally go in and out of courts slaying his victims without regard to their age or sex or circumstances. Dr. Krohn, for 16 years has been peddling perjury and we all know it."

STREAM OF ELOQUENCE

Darrow closed a straight two hour address with this parting shot, averring from his argument that the boys were moved by no motive but were purposeless, senseless and childish in killing Franks. For the final quarter of an hour he poured a stream of critical, personal and sarcastic abuse upon Dr. Krohn, who has been described as the "face of the state's corps of alienists." Darrow said he will end his argument Monday.

The aged but vibrant leader of half a thousand legal battles again held a crowded court room tense under the spell of his words. He talked for nearly the half day session, scarcely pausing for breath.

Judge Caverly took his eyes off the pleader only when a swinging door groaned, a chair scraped the floor and some other untoward sound became audible.

EMOTIONALISM LACKING

With equal attention Loeb and Leopold and their relatives followed the argument with a particular kept his eyes riveted on the slightly stooped man in the bogy gray suit whose brain and tongue were busy in trying to save him from the gallows. Leopold sat tense and motionless.

The boys showed no trace of emotionalism which on Friday sent them tearing from the court room. But there was little in Saturday's proceedings to arouse such feelings in them.

Proceedings with his argument that the crime was "so senseless as to be the possible product of only a diseased mind," Darrow pointed out each detail of the killing, the disposition of the body and actions afterwards took place under conditions that showed no lack of mental balance.

He emphasized particularly that the kidnapping and killing occurred in the very neighborhood of the boys' homes, where they were known to most any on that night pass. He also stressed the drive of the death car about busy South Side boulevards in daylight and that they followed the main arteries of travel to the sections where they disposed of the body.

TRIANGLE CAUSE OF DIVORCES

'Other Women' Blamed In Two Petitions Saturday

HUSBANDS DEFENDANTS

Motor Trips Are Alleged By Mrs. C. H. Stolzenbach

Motor trips to Lakeview and Russell Point with other women figure prominently in allegations contained in a divorce petition filed in common pleas court Saturday by Mrs. Wava Stolzenbach against Charles H. Stolzenbach, 24, baker, of 724 W. Market st.

Mrs. Stolzenbach, who prior to her marriage to the defendant in 1929 was Miss Wava Foust, of Scott's Crossing, names a girl called Ruby Wyatt, as the principal co respondent in the case. But she asserts that there are others with whom her mate went out.

Shortly after the birth of their son, John, 3, she asserts that the defendant commenced going out with Ruby Wyatt. She would not return until 4 a. m.

He left her at home on these nocturnal journeys, she says and frequently came home under the influence of liquor.

The plaintiff says she learned that his favorite companion on motor trips alleged to have been made to Russell Point and Lakeview, was Ruby Wyatt.

MOTOR TRIPS

Motor trips to the popular watering places were made with frequency. The plaintiff alleges that on their return from such outings, her husband and his fair companion would sit in his car parked on some convenient residential street. Often, she asserts, the car they were in would remain parked in the dark for several hours.

A share in property valued at $3,500, purchased shortly after the marriage and placed in the name of the mother of the defendants, is asked by the plaintiff. She says the property was taken in the name of the mother because her husband was a minor at the time. Payments of $80, according to the petition were made monthly on the property by the couple.

For a time during their marriage the couple resided in 218 Nye-st. The defendant is said to be a son of C. P. Stolzenbach, president of the Stolzenbach Baking Co. He draws a salary from the concern, his wife states, and also is paid for other work.

A second divorce action filed Saturday by wife who charges her husband with neglect and the affections of her mate was filed by Mrs. Alice Pratt, William Pratt, of 932 S. Elizabeth-st. is named defendant in the suit.

Mrs. Pratt in her petition accuses him of failure to support her and with striking and beating her. She also asserts that he mistreated her children by a former marriage.

A woman named Mrs. Rose Root, who resides in 419 S. Main-st., is named co-respondent. According to the plaintiff, Pratt spent much of his time in her society.

At the time of their marriage in 1921, Mrs. Pratt asserts she owned a considerable quantity of household goods. Because of the defendant's neglect, she says she was compelled to sell of the furniture to purchase necessities.

DAVIS TO BRING FAMOUS BAND

Organization Will Be Feature of Soldier Reunion

Hank Davis and his famous 146th Infantry band, whose music whistled away many long weary march somewhere in France and made the going easier for the leaden hoofed doughboys, will be the feature of the regimental reunion at Memorial Hall Aug. 31, Morris Conner, president, announced Saturday night.

Everybody in the old 146th knew Hank, and he was a popular favorite with officers and enlisted men alike. His old band, many members of whom come from the vicinity of Akron, was mobilized for the reunion last year for the first time since the war.

They will leave Akron Sunday morning and reach Lima at noon and march in the parade and furnish music at the hall. Sunday night the band will leave for Findlay to participate in the 37th division reunion Labor Day.

Commissioner J. Rankin, as acting mayor will deliver the address of welcome at Memorial hall, it is announced. The reply will be made by a member of the regiment to be selected during the coming week.

More than 500 members of the 146th are expected to come to Lima for the reunion.

DOLLAR DAY TO SEE MAIN-ST. JOB READY

George Walther Promises Speed In Asphalt Surface

GANGS NOW IN SQUARE

Entire Job to Be Wound Up Early This Week

Paving operations on Main-st. will not interfere with traffic nor will they in any way inconvenience the thousands of bargain hunters who are sure to jam the streets of the city all day Wednesday, Dollar Day.

A announcement was made late Saturday by George B. Walther, paving contractor, that the entire east side of the street from the Ottawa river bridge to North-st. will be open to traffic by Wednesday. Assurance has been given the merchants of the city that the top pavement will have been laid prior to that time, Walther said.

Dollar Day a semi-annual event which was started several years ago by merchants of the city and which is growing ever bigger each year, invariably draws hundreds of out-of-town buyers, and merchants have requested that work on Main-st. be pushed so that it will be possible to accommodate everyone with ease.

LOW PRICES

In order that the semi-annual event may be made bigger and better than ever this year, businessmen are bringing their merchandise prices down to the ground floor. Information as to what they have to offer will be available in Tuesday's "Dollar Day" edition of the News.

In addition to promising that he will have the street open as far as North-st. by Wednesday, Walther asserted that he expects to finish the entire job, including "cleanup" operations, by Thursday evening or Friday morning.

On Thursday or Friday prior to Labor Day the date originally set for the opening of the street.

The top asphalt has already been laid as far as the car line in the Public square and the combination stone and asphalt base for the street asphalt is down as far as the north side of the square.

By noon Monday, with the Public square disposed of, Walther's outfit will have started on the last lap of their final journey over the street.

KLKLN IS RAPPEL BY DAWES

Maine Audience Astonished at Nominee's Hot Shots

LABOR LEADERS ALSO HIT

Attempts to Politically Influence Union Men Denounced

AUGUSTA, Maine.—(By Associated Press)—Charles G. Dawes, Republican candidate for vice president, opened his speaking campaign Saturday in Augusta with a declaration of opposition to the Ku Klux Klan and a denunciation of attempts by labor leaders to influence "patriotic-law-abiding union men into a political combination with Socialists."

Dawes had announced he would speak straight from the shoulder, politicians or no politicians, and the audience which gathered at a Republican state rally at Island Park near here was prepared for some hot shots. It was taken aback somewhat, however, when the vice presidential nominee began his first sentence with the question at some length and then turned his fire on "politicians cringing before the whip of a few bluffing labor leaders."

"Appeals to racial, religious, or class prejudice by minority organizations and appeals to the 'fear of all peaceful and civilized communities' he shouted with waving arms after telling of the rise of the Klan in Oklahoma and in Williamson- Co. Illinois.

Our constitution stands for religious tolerance, he continued. To inject religious and racial issues into politics is contrary to the welfare of all the people and to the letter and spirit of the constitution of the United States."

AUDIENCE ASTONISHED

The audience stood astonished for a moment for Maine is counted by Klan leaders as one of the states where the organization is strongest, then there was scattering applause, but many of those present merely looked at one another, plainly wondering as to the effect of the statement just made on the next morning's election.

There was some general applause, though, when Dawes concluded the Klan portion of his address by saying "I have told you why I am opposed to the Klan. Take what I say into your hearts and consciences, and think it over. I believe it is in the best of the mind, there is no acrimony in conscience."

UNIONS DISCUSSED

With the Klan discussion ended, Dawes launched into the address he had prepared before leaving Evansville for Maine and the applause became more general but there were numerous looks of astonishment as he entered upon his discussion on trade unionism.

The benefits of trade unions, honestly administered are recognized not only by me, but by good citizens generally, whether in or out of trade unionism," he asserted. "It has elevated, protected and dignified labor and in so doing it has been an element in the progress of our nation."

"But why do so many politicians of both parties continue to regard the great intelligent, honest and conservative body of trades unionism as if it were a puppet in the hands of a few Socialist leaders and political demagogues," he inquired and then regarding his own question denied that "a few bluffing labor leaders" had been the cause of his politics in the name of patriotic men whose conviction on law enforcement and the constitution they do not control and who represent the idea that any one should believe that they would let their honest opinions in elemental things be used as a political asset."

OPEN SHOP

The vice presidential nominee then turned to another question on which his attitude often has been discussed by political leaders since his nomination—that of the open shop.

What pretext except personal political advantage have any labor leaders in attempting to bring the question of the open shop into politics?" he asked. "The supreme policy of the United States has held that the right of employees in a body to bargain with their employers in the closed shop is one of the inalienable rights of the individual under our constitution."

If a political party should place an open shop plank in their platform with a view to its crystallization into law, it would be striking at the constitution just as much as the lawless labor leader in the interest of the closed shop would order an American citizen assaulted as he went peacefully to his work. Questions like that of the open shop will always be issue among good citizens, but these defenses are not politics. The economic situation must be adjusted between employee and employer—not by political parties."

AID OF EUROPE

Dawes also defended the appointment of Americans to act unofficially in aiding Europe to settle the reparations problem. He attacked the Democratic platform and nominee for its proposal to lead "the nation back into the fog bank of debate on the league" and outlined the results of the economic program of the Republican administration and of the present tariff act. All of these three subjects his utterances were made as a reply to the acceptance address of John W. Davis, the Democratic presidential nominee.

Cast aside his prepared address, Dawes concluded with an attack on the LaFollette movement and an appeal to the people of Maine to remember that "the predominant issue in the contest between progressive conservatism under the leadership of President Coolidge" and the untied and

COOLIDGE HOLDS OPEN HOUSE

Spends Afternoon Receiving Callers at Father's Home

HIS FIRST SOCIAL VISIT

President Silent As to Davis and Dawes Speeches

PLYMOUTH, Vt.—(By Associated Press)—President Coolidge gave himself into the hands of friends and neighbors Saturday and with Mrs. Coolidge and his father, spent the afternoon on the front lawn of the family home here, shaking hands and visiting.

If his mind was on the campaign and its most recent developments bringing the Ku Klux Klan into the limelight, Mr. Coolidge did not disclose it. The booming of the first offensives of the two parties, including the address Friday by John W. Davis, Democratic candidate, and that Saturday by Charles G. Dawes, the president's running mate, came into this quiet hamlet over newspaper wires, but halted suddenly in the office of C. Buscon Slomp, secretary to the president.

Friday night Slomp informed Mr. Coolidge of the suggestion by John W. Davis that the president join to the president in eliminating the Klan as a campaign issue. Slomp received word of Dawes' speech and reported it to the president. Both messages were received without comment by the Republican nominee.

It was said earlier in the afternoon by Slomp that to his knowledge the president knew nothing of the proposed declaration by Dawes on the Klan. The silence of Mr. Coolidge made it impossible to predict, he said, whether he would pursue in regard to Davis' speech.

Meanwhile Mr. Coolidge, except for his social visit, the first with the townspeople since he arrived a week ago on his 12-day vacation, kept close to his father's home in company with members of his family as usual.

CALLERS RECEIVED

For more than an hour the president and Mrs. Coolidge stood in front of the family home and received the callers, who came in from all over the state and were the first to see the president since his arrival here and the relatives and townsfolk and neighbors of this section were on hand.

A clear day and bright sun developed on the day of the warmest afternoon of the season. The president and Mrs. Coolidge were in the yard of the house where they were visiting. The president was with the children and the porch swing.

It had been a busy day for the elder Coolidge. The general store corner was crowded by noon with neighbors from the hillsides and he was soon down among them, welcoming his old friends and with good humor posing for pictures with the children. It was a gala day for this village and John Wilder, the president's uncle, expressed regret that he and friends had not been a hand to come here for the occasion.

Those who passed in the reception lines turned to the churchyard across the road and waited for the visitors to pass, but at the conclusion Mr. Coolidge retired to the porch with a few of the relatives, bowing in recognition of applause but making no speech.

TWO SOUGHT IN MYSTERY DEATH

Partners of Slain New York Manufacturer Missing

BODY FOUND IN TIN BOX

Containers Then Sealed in Plaster of Paris

NEW YORK.—(By Associated Press)—Search for the slayer of Aaron Graft, radio cabinet manufacturer, whose dismembered body was found Friday in a tin box in a Greenwich Village basement, was further complicated Saturday by the discovery of police that both of Graft's business partners were missing.

One of the partners, John Lugosy, disappeared on August 3, thirteen days before Graft's body was found in the basement of the apartment house where Lugosy was caretaker. General alarms for his arrest broadcast thru the country, has brought no result Saturday night.

Police hunt for Lugosy led police to the discovery that a second partner, Charles E. Rags, disappeared last May 30, after having drawn $1,000 from a bank account held jointly by himself and Graft. Rags was a native of Hungary.

Members of the homicide squad are systematically combing Greenwich Village in their efforts to solve the village's latest murder mystery.

They have learned that Graft, who was 72 years old, had been a prominent character thruout Manhattan's Bohemia in the 12 years since he a moderately well-to-do man, came to New York from Syracuse.

He was known as a lender of money to persons seeking capital for those small and mostly transient businesses which cluster in Greenwich Village. They called him "Daddy Pop" in some circles. To some he was plain "Shlock."

Last May 30, while Graft and his wife were visiting Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Rags drew $1,000 from the firm's joint bank account. A man whose name displayed much cash he was reported to police to have shown up in the village at about that time paying various small personal obligations of long standing. Then he disappeared August 1.

He had about $300 on his person. It was estimated that he and set out to meet Lugosy on the latter's basement home to collect or have renewed a note for $100 he held against Lugosy.

That was the last seen of him until his body was found, dismembered and stuffed into a tin can which sealed with shell plaster of Paris and was had crusted such an order in the Lugosy neighborhood that detectives were called in.

In the meantime Lugosy also had disappeared. His wife who is detained as a material witness, said she did not report him missing, she said, because she had dreamed he was dead and she believed in dreams.

VOTE BUYING CHARGED BY BUCYRUS DEFEATED

BUCYRUS — Defeated by Charles Gallinger, Bucyrus, for the nomination for judge of the common pleas court at the Democratic primary, Benjamin Meek Saturday filed a petition in the court of appeals charging Gallinger with violation of the corrupt practice act. Meek was defeated by 22 votes and claims the election.

In his petition, Meek charged Gallinger with paying Jacob Pfeiderer, of Liberty-tp, $80 for his vote and influence and with paying others, not mentioned in the petition, various sums. He also charged that all votes were not counted.

PROGRAMS ANNOUNCED BY LUNCHEON CLUBS

Prof. Thomas J. Smull, secretary of Ohio Northern university, has been obtained to speak before the Lima Kiwanis club Tuesday noon at the Hotel Barr, according to announcement of the entertainment committee. Prof. Smull's subject has not been announced.

The Lions club will be entertained Wednesday noon at Barr hotel by the Grandi brothers, local entertainers, who will put on a vaudeville band stunt and also sing some songs.

No speaker has as yet been secured to address the Rotary club at its meeting Monday noon at the Norvel hotel.

CROSSON TO TESTIFY IN LIQUOR HEARING

Sheriff Harvey Crosson will be a witness in U. S. Commissioner Thomson's court in Toledo Monday when cases of Charles Cium and Eli Pett, arrested on a liquor charge, come up for hearing.

A two gallon jug of joy water was found on Pett's farm near Beaverdam several months ago. Officers have been watching Cium and Pett since, and took them in custody Friday night.

Sheriff Crosson was served with a subpoena Saturday by a federal agent, who is said to be one of a group of operatives who have been working under cover in Lima during the past month.

There was no chance of detection. Darrow also brought up again the effect upon the community of newspaper accounts of the crime and the wealth of the Leopold and Loeb families. He reiterated that these forced him into the position of pleading for the lives of his boys.

GRUESOME PICTURE

He painted a gruesome picture of the boys upon the scaffold bound, hooded and "with some waiting to loose the spring." He philosophized again and again upon the barbarity of capital in the office of C. Buscon Slomp, secretary to the president.

Friday night Slomp informed Mr. Coolidge of the suggestion by John W. Davis that the president join to the president in eliminating the Klan as a campaign issue. Slomp received word of Dawes' speech and reported it to the president. Both messages were received without comment by the Republican nominee.

DELEGATE FROM EUROPE

Gilboa Man Attended S. S. Convention

VISITS FAMILY IN SCOT

Public Reception Planned Friday Night

GILBOA — Andrew Ross turned to Gilboa, after he had attended the International school convention at Glasgow, land. While about he spent all week visiting his family live at Nairn in northern Scotland. Ross says that the voyage to the ocean was the most pleasant one. It was as across the ocean that Ross saw a wreath in the Atlantic at which the delegates sang and two Gilboa boys, Charles Hams and Clyde Harter, who when he dropped the crowd water as one of the most impressive moments of his life.

Another thing that impressed very much was when he saw several delegates to the convention who had crossed the ocean to fight in the war, now they were interested in the peace of the world and the Christian church, he said.

After landing in Scotland went immediately to Glasgow where the delegates stayed for five weeks. Ross says that the delegates were very kind and that he had a very good time.

On the first day of the convention the Lord Mayor of Glasgow gave a reception to the delegates. The beautiful art gallery of the Glasgow select and the Orpheus choir gave a concert during the convention.

After the convention Ross went to Nairn to visit his parents. He says that he is very glad to be home and that he is very interested in the peace of the world and the Christian church, he said.

Conditions are very good in Scotland, Ross says. He says that one can easily notice there is a great scarcity of and middle-aged men, as so were killed in the war.

Many of the Scotch people to come to the United States as many are coming as our nation laws allow. They flocking to the British color great numbers. The main reason the Scotch people will leave their native land is because they are taxed very heavily in the war debt.

He arrived in Gilboa Tuesday noon. A reception was given at the Ross home Tuesday night by members of his Sunday school.

On next Friday night a reception will be given Ross at the community building.

GERMANS TURN TO NEW PACT

Ratification of Dawes Plan Is Expected

PLEA IS MADE BY MARX

Agreement Also Defended by French Premier

BERLIN — (By Associated Press) — Chancellor Marx, Foreign Minister Stresemann and Finance Minister Luther, the three German delegates to the London conference Saturday afternoon, defended the ratification of the Dawes plan for Germany's reparations. The foreign minister's spirited defense meted his frequent outbursts of applause, not only because of his effective recapitulation of the negotiations with President Herriot, but also for the meritorious manner in which he disposed of the heckling interruptions.

PROSPECT FAVORABLE

Saturday night the government's prospects of obtaining a decisive majority for the ratification of the London pact were viewed as highly favorable. Meanwhile, scores of protesting telegrams from the occupied areas and delegations from the Ruhr representing political, civic, industrial and labor organizations, are bombarding the Reichstag with petitions demanding an unequivocal ratification of the agreement on the Dawes plan.

The industrialists and "big business" generally also are impressing upon the Reichstag the imperative necessity of accepting the government drafts on the Dawes bills and the London protocol.

All the Reichstag parties will debate the measures necessary for putting the Dawes plan into effect Monday and Tuesday, after which a vote on ratification will be taken. If the government fails to obtain the needed majority, it is proposed to dissolve the Reichstag. If this is done President Ebert, by virtue of article 48 of the constitution, will empower the Marx-Stresemann ministry to ratify the London pact.

HERIOT'S PLEA

PARIS — (By Associated Press) — Premier Herriot defended the Dawes plan and the London agreement in a two-hour reply to his critics Saturday night during the course of the debate over parliamentary approval.

Herriot, frankly admitting that "we bring you the first fruits of hope" and not "complete peace," told the chamber that any of the deputies would have done as he did under the circumstances. Throughout, the premier tried to keep the defense on high moral grounds and endeavored to show that he could not use the Ruhr as a club at the London conference because Poincare in behalf of France had given his word that it was not a military occupation, but merely protection for the economic mission. So, when the mission was withdrawn, why should the soldiers stay?

"France," continued the premier, "whether represented by you or by me could not say:

"I will keep my promise if I am paid."

"I did all I could at London, even supporting a thesis in which I did not believe. But you also would have revolted and recognized that it was impossible to bargain in a question that was simply a matter of what was right."

WILL HAVE NO RANCOR

At one point of his speech Herriot shouted:

"You are going to judge me. I will have no rancor if you judge unfavorably."

Herriot's speech became an issue for the opposition when Deputy Schmidt averred that the marshal had said publicly:

"The policy of isolation is detestable," the deputy added that

Marshal Foch had always favored Herriot's view. But the premier quickly interrupted with:

"Foch is too glorious a soldier to be dragged into this. The government will bear the responsibility."

He called upon General Deschamps, chief of Foch's staff, and General Nollet, minister of war to give the military view. General Deschamps said that Marshal Foch had been consulted and had declared "formally that the military occupation of the Ruhr should not concern France's security and the marshal considered the conditions of the Versailles treaty amply sufficient."

The Ruhr dominated the day's debate, just as the premier said it hung like a pall over the London conference. The pro and cons of Poincare's policy were argued all over, with scant attention to the real question, but out of it all M. Herriot got a good deal of comfort in maintaining the position that he did the best possible under the circumstances.

The French premier presented again his defense of the agreement reached at the London conference, as the best possible under the circumstances. His first applause came from the entire chamber when he said:

"In the new functioning of the reparations commission, we put in an American. We put in an American everywhere we could in the committees operating under the Dawes plan—a neutral, yes, but a neutral, one of those in whom, when war was half over, came and joined us because we had the right on our side."

The premier, exclaiming: the critics of America and the allies, declared that "the material and moral forces of the Americans, their sense of right and justice, will assure France obtaining her due. The London conference marks an epochal date in the history of the reparations question."

Firm, Plump Flesh!

MANY are the eyes that are turned to gaze with keen admiration on the well developed, healthy girl no matter where she may be—on the rapidly moving thoroughfare or gliding gracefully over the dance floor.

All eyes turn because we all appreciate the girl with the figure so firm and plump—the girl with radiantly red cheeks, cheeks that carry a touch of roses from nature's own garden—the girl with the sparkling eyes, keen and sharp—the girl with buoyancy and the ring of youth.

Not necessarily an out-of-doors girl. Just a girl with ever increasing blood cells. Just a girl filled with the vim and vigor of youth.

S. S. S. since 1826, has stood for increased blood cells. S. S. S. has restored strength—rekindled vitality—added energy. Take S. S. S. and watch the bloom of youth return to your cheeks. Watch that flabby, ill nourished flesh fade away before fresh blood that is firm and plump. Red blood cells will do it. S. S. S. will build them. It contains only pure vegetable ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large bottle is more economical.

PERSHING GIVEN INVITATION

General May Attend Labor Day Mardi Gras

MANY FLOATS ASSIGNED

Interest Is High In Gigantic Parade and Festival

Possibility that General John W. Pershing will attend the Mardi Gras festival here Labor Day was seen Saturday.

The general will be in Findlay attending the 57th Division reunion and efforts are to be made this week to obtain his acceptance to take part in some portion of the festivities here even if for only an hour or two.

It is now practically assured that the parade of floats and civic organizations in the Mardi Gras parade will be the most beautiful and varied of anything of its kind ever held in Lima. All of the exhibits will be fanciful in character, as no commercial ones are being permitted in the parade.

Arrangements have been made whereby the hundreds of letter carriers from this district, who will be in convention in Lima on Labor Day, will march in the parade in uniform.

Ten bands will furnish the music. New acquisitions are the Toledo Letter Carriers and the Kenton concert bands.

MANY ENTRIES
Entries for the athletic events are coming in rapidly and interesting competition is now assured. Announcement has also been made that five stunt flyers will be here with the aerial circus from Wilbur Wright field at Dayton.

The Mardi Gras has now been advertised throughout a radius of 50 miles of Lima. Every main traveled highway has been plastered with signs, and huge banners greet every visitor coming into the city. In addition, boy scouts are covering every town and village with circulars.

Among the subjects already assigned are the following:

Consolidated Bottling Works—"Summertime."
Daisel Co.—"The Fairy Queen."
Edling Furniture Co.—"The Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe."
Feldman & Co.—"The Butterfly Fairies."

First American Bank—"The First American."
Great American Insurance Co.—"Abe Lincoln."
High-st. Market—"All Roads Lead to Lima."

Interior Decorators—"The Old Masters."
Jewelers of Lima—"Grandfather's Clock."
Lima Blue Print Co.—"Little Bo-Peep."

Lima Cycle Co.—"Minnehaha."
Lion's Club—"Circus Days."
Outside Painters—"The Modern Painters."

Porter & Sons—"The Old Settlers."
Rhoda Body & Mfg. Co.—"Cow Jumped Over the Moon."
Solar Refinery Co.—"The Railway Fairies."

Y. W. C. A.—"Mistress Mary."
Others who are building floats but have not yet selected subjects are:

Gregg & Co., Lewis Bros., St. Rita's Hospital, Garford, E. H. Zahn, Paint Dealers, Sinclair Oil Co., Lugabill Supply Co., Hoover & Bond, The Daisel-Wemmer Co., Timmerman Motor Sales Co., D. D. Jones Co., The Building & Loan Association, Empire Furniture Co., The Radiant Oil Co., Kiwanis Club, Lima Telephone Co., Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., Lima Lykeglass Station.

PICNIC IS NEAR

Y. M. C. A. to Hold Outing Thursday

Eighteen hundred invitations were mailed Saturday to the senior members and contributors of the Y. M. C. A. formally advising them of the annual boosters' picnic to be held at McBeth park Thursday afternoon. All reservation cards must be returned to the "Y" before 6 p. m. Wednesday.

An elaborate program of games has been arranged by the athletic committee in charge of Frank Cutler. In addition to the tug-of-war between the foremen of the Lima Locomotive Works and the Garford Motor Truck Co., there will be a series of baseball, volley ball and horseshoe games that will provide an opportunity for every man present to get in some form of athletic activity.

Three baseball diamonds will be available for local "Babe" Ruths and "Ty" Cobbs to show their wares. There will be two volley ball courts, one for a match game, and the other for non-playing.

Bats will be served to the gathering at 6 p. m. More than 500 men are expected to attend the affair, which is being put on this year by the Y. M. C. A. Boosters' club and the Lima Foreman's club.

KIWANIANS TO ARRANGE DEFENSE DAY PROGRAM

DELPHOS — The local Kiwanis club have decided to take over the celebration of National Defense Day Sept. 12 and combine it with the Tri-Go Fair Board activities in this city around that time.

The National Defense Day parade will not doubt be carried out at that time in conjunction with the fair, it is said. However, definite plans for the day will be outlined at a meeting of the club previous to that date.

Dale Marshall Continuing Training in Los Angeles

Dale B. Marshall, well known local singer, is now in Los Angeles continuing his training. It is said in reports reaching here that his voice is improving in quality and strength.

He recently appeared before Professor Ahrens, one of the leading vocal teachers and critics in that section of the country, and received warm commendation.

It is believed, if his voice is carefully developed, he will some day become one of the leading tenors.

Marshall, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Marshall, 307 Harrison-av., is well known here, having sung at many functions prior to his leaving for the west. At present he is singing in one of the largest theatres in Los Angeles.

HEALTH SURVEY IS MADE

County Health Inspects 153 Places in County

Health inspections totalling 153 were made in 27 Allen-county towns and villages in the past two weeks, Dr. J. J. Sutter, county health commissioner, reports.

Places inspected included groceries, general stores, bakeries, poultry yards, confectioneries, restaurants, lunch rooms, cream stations, meat markets and hotels.

A certificate of approval was left in 125 of the 153 establishments inspected. All others will receive these certificates as soon as they comply with the rules and regulations of the board of health.

Cleanliness was the main correction needed. Nearly all the establishments showed a marked improvement over last year.

DAVISON NAMED SCHOOL EXAMINER IN PUTNAM-CO.

OTTAWA — Grover Davison, of Putnam, was named as school examiner of Putnam-co. at a meeting of the county board of education, Friday. He succeeds himself to the place.

The board also discussed the decision handed down by the Hartsburg school case by Judge Hoy, in which the decision was against the county board of education and favorable to the Hartsburg school district.

The Hartsburg district is seeking to evade merger with the newly organized Continental district. The county board will appeal the case to higher court.

RETURN HOME

OTTAWA — Mr. and Mrs. John S. Cartwright returned Saturday night from a trip in the east and a visit to the home of their son, Todd Cartwright, in Girard, Maine.

The Obenour reunion will be held Labor Day at the Harding-co fair grounds at Kenton.

It is almost too good to believe! One can buy lots for from $600 to $1200 anywhere --- the prices in themselves are not significant -- AND NO APPRECIATION OF "LOST CREEK COUNTRY CLUB ADDITION" CAN BE GAINED FROM THE FACT ALONE THAT PRICES ARE SENSATIONALLY LOW — It is coupling these prices with the location—the beauty of the whole—and its wonderful list of improvements that will go to make it the ideal environment in which to rear children that makes "Lost Creek" THE OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENT IN PROVIDING HIGH CLASS HOME SITES IN ALL LIMA'S HISTORY! Lost Creek Boulevard—which runs on either side of the new beautiful stream mark the entrance to Lost Creek Addition. After entering that drive you are impressed with the desirability and the beauty of the section and its possibilities for a residential section. The little stream from which the extension takes its name has been dredged and its banks beautified—lots are plainly staked and boulevard systems and streets named and marked for your guidance. The club house is situated almost in the center of the plat—and from its entrance to the Highway is perhaps the most beautiful drive in this section of the country—inspiring in itself—St. Andrews Boulevard,—giant maples making of it a long green cloister. The nine hole golf course will be one of the outstanding features of the community. It is being planned and executed by experts and when finished will be technically finer, and naturally on a par with any golf course in the vicinity.

THERE IS ONLY ONE LOST CREEK COUNTRY CLUB ADDITION. IT IS THE REALIZATION OF ALL THAT YOU HAVE EVER DREAMED OF IN ENVIRONMENT FOR YOUR HOME. EACH AND EVERY YEAR WILL SEE IT INCREASE IN FINANCIAL AND LIVING VALUE.

Real Business

Commendation is due the city commission and manager for the manner in which they handled the telephone rate matter in Lima. An agreement was reached Friday between the city and telephone company on rates, both sides accepting the report of the expert they brought here to make an investigation.

Through the businesslike method employed by the commission, the people of Lima are many thousands of dollars ahead. To begin with, the expert found that an increased rate was justified, but reduced the company's schedules to an extent that patrons will save $20,000 a year.

To this amount might be added many additional thousands that would have come out of the pockets of telephone users and taxpayers had months of litigation resulted. Lawsuits are expensive, as the people of this city well know. The winner usually loses and the loser gets a real drubbing.

While the company had set up what its engineers had believed to be a fair rate, the state's expert arrived at the lower figure by cutting down some of the items entering into the new rate. The company accepted this compromise in the proper spirit. It might have substantiated its original schedule in the courts, but the expense incurred would have resulted in an additional burden to its subscribers and this the management declared it was anxious to avoid.

The new rates accepted as fair will give stockholders a moderate return on their investment. It will be less than the amount usually fixed, but will be in line with the company's policy of keeping rates at the lowest possible point.

The city commission and manager have performed a valuable service for the people of the city and did it in a dignified and highly business way. This adjustment that protects the interests of everyone concerned will do much to establish increased confidence in the government of our city. The people adopted the commission-manager plan because it was recommended as a means of putting business in government. Continuation of the policy adopted in this big deal will do much to convince them they were on the right track.

Somebody's Wrong

Former Governor Harry L. Davis, incumbent in that office in 1921 and 1922, and the Republican nominee this year, is on one side of a road building argument, with State Highway Director L. A. Boulay on the other. Davis says that under his administration of two years he "completed 2,000 miles of new highway, or more than three times as much as any previous administration."

Boulay takes the former executive to task concerning this statement, and asserts that instead of 2,000 miles, Davis built only 1302 miles during his two years as governor. To make his denial of the Davis assertion more interesting, Boulay states that his figures are based on tabulations made by Stanley F. Krug, a Davis appointee, and that after Davis' miles counted in widening and grading only are eliminated, his construction record is but 1067 miles of actual completed new road.

The present state highway commissioner also produces figures by Krug to show that whereas Davis claimed road construction under his administration was done at an average of $40,000 a mile, actually it was $55,000, whereas under the Donahay administration the cost averaged something like $25,000 a mile.

All this is not particularly interesting perhaps to the reader, and while it may not even be illuminating, it serves to bring to the forefront a situation that is making glad many thousands of persons residing on mud roads. Even this Republican charge may be true that Gov. Donahay is not building roads quite as cheaply as he promised in his campaign addresses in 1922, the fact remains that he is building hundreds of miles of gravel roads that are "taking the people out of the mud," and which later will serve as good foundation for so-called "permanent" roads.

Governor Donahay persisted in the building of gravel roads in the face of the most strenuous opposition, even against the wishes of his highway director. The results have changed the minds of many.

Tight Shoes

Wear shoes that are a bit tight to keep from becoming slovenly. Franklin Puttkamer makes this suggestion, writing in a Berlin newspaper. She deals with a great psychological truth—even more than that, a psychic law, one of the strange and invisible forces that animate us.

You have, for instance, observed that a person is lazier when he is most comfortable. Note how difficult it is to root Willie from a soft bed in the morning. An easier job if the mattress is hard.

The most energetic man begins to feel lazy as soon as he, pausing for a rest, sinks into soft cushions.

Comfort and luxuries make people lazy, contented, satisfied with what they have. Discomfort and the pinch of necessity are what make a man bustle.

Comfort and luxury are the goals of most people.

When they reach their goal, they usually are ready to quit—just as a hungry man wants to stagnate after a good meal.

There wouldn't be any progress if he had life too soft.

The discomforts of sitting on stones and logs led man to invent upholstery. The labor of walking long distances, along with his sense of curiosity, induced him to tame the horse to carry him—and later invent buggy, train, bicycle, auto and airplane.

We have more cushions than our great-grandparents, figuratively speaking. But life is just as difficult for us as it was for them, tho in a different way. Our davenport is more comfortable than grandpa's horsehair settee, but he didn't have the discomfort of hanging to a street car strap on his way to it after work.

Women Inventors

Did you ever know a woman to invent anything? American women have invented and patented nearly 1400 devices.

A check-up shows that when women put their inventive ingenuity to work they usually turn out household appliances. Women have created washing machines, kitchen cabinets, holders for hot pans, carpet beaters, mattress turners, mouse traps and so on thru a long list.

Next thing that makes them cudgel their brains is wearing apparel.

Farm women have invented and patented many such things as incubators, churns, windmills, tractors and seed planters.

Business women have originated railroad equipment, office supplies, toys, musical instruments, road-building equipment and intricate machinery.

When old man Howe was trying to invent the sewing machine, he reached the point where he was stumped. His wife got tired of having it around in the way. She shoved him aside, sat down before his machine, gave it few whirrs and said: "Put the thread eyelet in the other end of the needle, down by the point."

In a flash she solved the problem that had baffled him for years. He got all the credit, of course.

The list is long, these things created and patented by women. It includes nearly every major form of human activity. Women, whose place once was in the home in fact, is steadily branching out into an increasing multitude of industries.

All of which is not surprising to any man who has ever observed and marveled at the thousands of things women can do with that marvelous contraption, a bent hairpin.

POPULAR MYTHS ABOUT PIMPLES

Perhaps there are few conditions about which people cherish more myths than they do about skin eruptions in general and pimples particularly. The great myth about measles and other rashes "striking in" is typical of the whole assortment of absurd notions associated with skin lesions. These notions are nurtured, I suppose, by the hokum and bunkum of the thousand and one brands of fake healers who dwell on "driving out impurities," or "eliminating poisons" from the skin in the manner which appeals to the ignorant layman, whose searches in fishology are very extensive but whose knowledge of physiology is largely of the Billings variety.

Myth No. 1, that comedones (blackheads or whiteheads) and pimples occur from uncleanness or from lack of care of the skin, is nonsense, for the most cleanly persons have them.

Myth No. 2, that acne reflects upon the moral character or personal habits of the afflicted individual, is simply a case of misery likes company, for as a matter of fact the great majority of young persons with blackheads and pimples are of exemplary character and the best habits in every respect.

Myth No. 3, that acne is a sign of "impure blood," which can be "purified" by taking some ridiculous nostrum, is almanac humor, pure and simple.

Myth No. 4, that such "blotches" of the complexion come from eating too much of certain articles of diet, such as butter and other oils or fats, or sweets, or just rich foods generally, clashes with the plain fact that most young persons with acne do not eat too much, and the equally patent fact that most young persons who do overindulge in sweets or pastries have few pimples or none. Indeed, about the only place where these myths find serious support nowadays is in the phony "health" hints given dumb-bell correspondents who seek advice from conductors of "beauty" columns in newspapers.

These four acne myths are not all, but they are enough to show how much misunderstanding prevails, and perhaps to account for much of the discouragement which victims experience from futile lines of treatment.

Practically the only treatment worth while is local or direct treatment of the affected skin. Some of the generally helpful remedies in acne are:

1. A vigorous scrubbing of the affected area of skin with hot water and soft soap (or so-called flutture of green soap) each evening or each alternate evening. The purpose of this is not to cleanse the skin but to stimulate it and favor exfoliation of the thickened epidermis. It makes the acne a little worse before it gets a little better.

2. Expression of the comedones (blackheads or whiteheads) by the fingers covered with a clean cloth, twice a week, bathing the skin before and after this with a warm solution of boracic acid, table-spoonful to the quart of water.

3. Once a week, open pustules with a flamed needle, gently express the pus on bits of cotton or cloth which must be immediately destroyed, and touch the lesions with a drop of tincture of iodine on a toothpick, which must be destroyed immediately—to prevent reinfection.

4. For obstinate or indolent "blind boils," or pimples which remain for a considerable time without suppurating, rub in around each pimple following the hot soap and water scrubbing, each alternate night, a wee bit of 1 per cent ammoniated mercury ointment.

5. When comedones (blackheads) are a feature, as well as pimples, dab on the skin each night some white lotion, and let this dry on, washing it off with cold water in the morning. White lotion consists of one dram of zinc sulphate, one dram of sulphurated potassium, and four ounces of rose water.

TO A TYPEWRITER KEYBOARD Here you are, all of you, letters to fashion the words, Letters for language as sweet as the song of the birds, Letters for beauty and candor and letters for love, Letters to picture the day and the night with God's stars above! And you spring into life at the impulse of man and reveal The thoughts of his mind with your swift-flying fingers of steel.

Here you are, all of you, meaningless standing alone, Servants of good men and bad, having no will of your own; Yet on your twenty-eight keys lie all of the poems to be, As in the acorn there lies the trunk and the leaves of the tree; Deathless, the song you could sing, you'd crush with your might, If but the mind of the man pieced you together aright.

Here you are, all of you! Letters for slender and hale! Letters for courage and faith when the need for such virtues is great! Letters for mirth that shall drive out of mind every sorrow and care, What shall men write when we're gone? Could we guess, it is all hidden there! Frail little tools of the mind, helpless yet terribly strong; Lord, let me choose the right words, help me to fashion my song.

WRITE AN AD- WIN A CASH PRIZE

Read The Ads on This Page -- Then Start Writing

Read the advertisements on this page. That may serve to give you an idea. Better still, go to the firms whose advertisements appear here, get first hand facts, then do your ad writing. That's the way ad experts do. They study every possible phase of the business and the article or service to be written about; in other words, they first sell themselves on the idea, then they are in a position to sell the other fellow.

RULES OF THE CONTEST

Write plainly on one side of the paper only; write no more than fifty words. (Less than fifty words if possible.) Pick out one merchant or one item from the list on this page and write your advertisement on the one subject only. You may send in as many advertisements as you like. Write no more than one advertisement on each sheet. Sign your name and address plainly on each sheet. In case of a tie, prizes will be awarded equally. That is, if there are two first prizes, each winner will receive $5; second $3; third $2. The advertising Manager of The Lima News will judge all manuscripts. All answers must be in the News office not later than Aug. 29th at 4 o'clock.

This page will appear again next Sunday announcing the winners. Watch for it. Your advertisement may then appear in place of the advertisements as they now appear.

YANKS GOING STRONG WITH END IN SIGHT

It seems that as the season grows older and the end is almost in sight that class is beginning to tell. The Yanks while playing a hide-and-seek game with Washington and Detroit teams are growing in consistency and their pitchers, who at the first part of the season were going badly seem to be getting into their stride. If this is a fact, it will be hard for either the second or third place team to beat them out. There is no danger of a blow-up with the Yanks. A team of veterans, who know how to play the game, and can always be depended upon will hardly lose ground, as they get further into the game, but will improve. The prophecy that the brilliant pitching staff, practically all veterans, had reached the crux of their game, was not wisely put or is not being borne out.

Association Race Very Close

Washington is true has the ability to keep on. They are not a flash in the pan. If the team is criticized separately, the fact is brought to mind that in fielding and especially in pitching and batting they are decidedly strong. According to the latest releases they have felled off and now stand fifth in collective strength with a percentage of .281. This means that they have been winning games, there has been a slump with the stick. New York is batting .293, while Detroit is at the top of the column with .341, one single point ahead.

The gradual improvement of the Yanks pitching staff is not another according to records, it is a fact. Pennock is the outstanding ace of that corps to date, and he stands as one of the most consistent performers in the American league. To date he has 16 wins and 8 defeats to his credit, while Hoyt is away down the list with 12 wins and 8 defeats. Whitcomb and Holloway have 10 wins and 10 defeats. The Detroit team practically lead the list of winning pitchers. Whipple is credited with 13 wins and only 4 defeats, while Holloway is second in the standing of pitchers with 10 victories and 4 defeats.

JOHNSON STANDS OUT
Walter Johnson stands out as Washington's particular ace in the pitcher box. So far this season he is credited with 14 victories and 6 defeats, giving him a percentage of .700, which will be admitted to be highly efficient from a pitching point of view. Mordecai who is second in prominence with his Senators has lost many games as he has won ten each.

Today Washington is just .003 behind the Yanks, and they are ahead two runs in the series, while Detroit is going to the world's championship further behind. Their percentage is .346, with Washington .347 and the Yanks .350.

The average figures it, the Yanks are a warm one. The Senators have proved a big factor in the season's winning. The Senators have won 10 games and lost 10. The Yanks have won 10 games and lost 10. The Senators have won 10 games and lost 10. The Yanks have won 10 games and lost 10.

GALLOPING GOLF
Galloping golf is exclusive form of pastime featuring aristocratic indulgence in advanced stages.

TO BE GALLOPING GOLFER YOU MUST OWN STABLE IN NEWPORT, OFFICE IN WALL STREET AND MANSION IN RIVERSIDE DRIVE.

It's nobby sport for scions of wealth, haughty head waiters and others who can order demitasse without blushing.

You use horses instead of caddies in mounted golf, except you don't use them so hard. A full-grown horse will stand only so much cussing.

England and America cross infuriated mallets for polo horrors of two continents next month, with U. S. G. A. rules prevailing. This means all fashionable drinking must be done on clubhouse veranda.

Outcome of international match will settle definitely and beyond gray flicker of doubt whether infants brought up on canned oysters are superior to those who chew plug out by instinct.

Polo is gently reminiscent of bipped golf in that proficiency entitled players to dress up like a cross between commander of Holy Springs, Miss., home guards and paucate chauffeur at Child's.

You wear neck-length boots, natty duck knickers, open-face sport shirts and lofty look of scorn for anybody whose name isn't bootishly embroidered in blue book.

TAKES A BRAVE GUY TO BE A GALLOPING GOLFER TAKES A BRAVE GUY EVEN TO DRESS LIKE ONE.

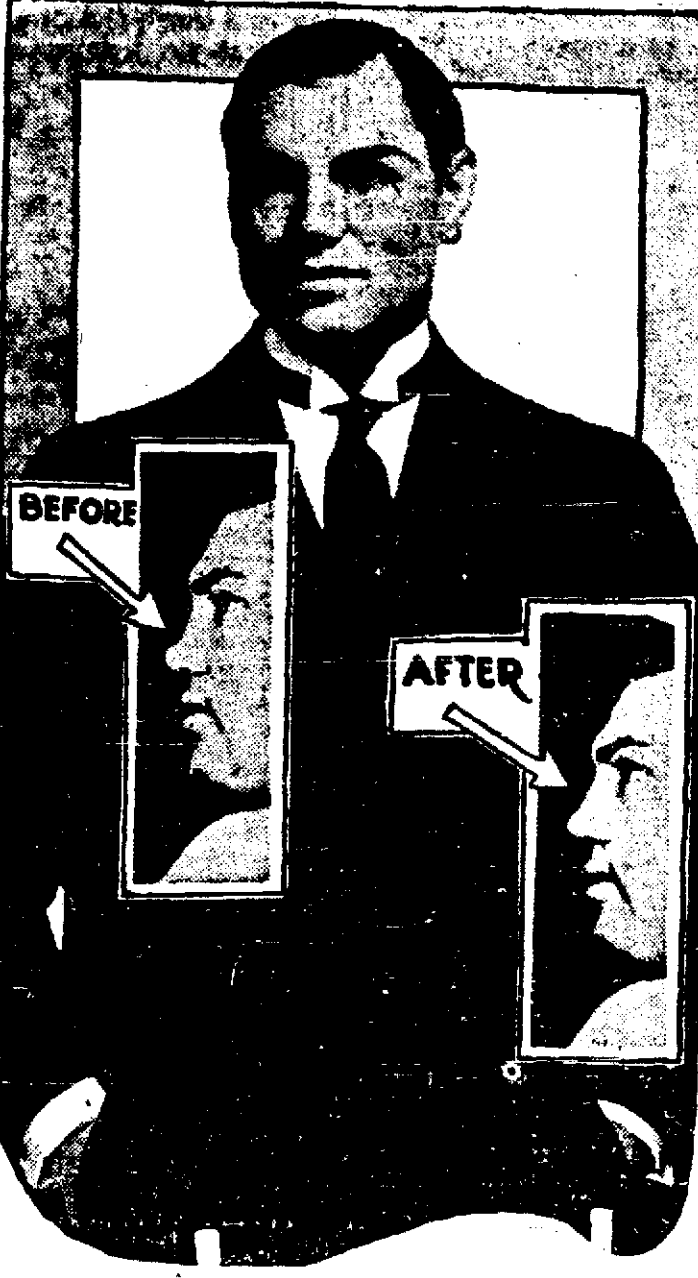

Etiquette demands you stop play and apologize if your head inadvertently comes in contact with downward swing of opponent's mallet. Real good mallets can't be picked up every day.

Polo horses are picked for alertness. Some are said to be almost human in their intelligence.

To us, however, this sounds like roling out of your way to take a knock at a decessless quadruped.

DEMPSEY'S NEW NOSE

SHOWING MR. DEMPSEY AND HIS NOSE IN BEFORE AND AFTER PHASES.

BY JOE WILLIAMS
Mr. Jack Dempsey, gentleman of the fists, romantic idol of the silver sheets, and contributor of deathless passages to the realm of literature, has a new nose. Perhaps it is more accurate to say Mr. Dempsey has a made-over nose, since the basic foundations of the original structure remain. Plastic surgeons have taken the pbebian Irish nasal design which Mr. Dempsey has effected since infancy and worked it over into a perfectly intriguing Grecian pattern. Those who knew the champion in his vulgar fighting days may recall that his inhale turned up sharply at the end, much after the manner of a Turkish house slipper. This was all right for glove tossing tournaments, but not for the higher arts. As Mr. Dempsey himself observed, "Whoever heard of an act-

HAZEN CUYLER PROVES STAR OF PIRATE TEAM

CHICAGO.—(Associated Press).—From a lowly bench bench warmer, awaiting a chance to slip into the game as a substitute, to one of the brightest stars in the National League, is the remarkable rise of Hazen Cuyler, youthful outfield star with the Pirates.

Cuyler today finds himself battling the famed Rogers Hornsby, second base star of the Cardinals for the batting championship of the league. He bagged eleven hits in his last five games, giving him an average of .383 and is trailing twenty-seven points behind Hornsby, who is topping the list with .410. Zack Wheat, the Brooklyn veteran, suffered a slight slump, dropping into third place with .366. The averages include games of Wednesday.

The rise of Cuyler, a rookie from the Southern League, reads like a page from baseball fiction. His chance came by accident when Max Carey, the Pittsburgh veteran, was injured. When Carey returned to the game, Manager McKelvie of the Pirates found Cuyler's services indispensable. His batting, fielding and sparkling base running was an inspiration to the Pirates, who carried the fight to the Giants for the lead in the pennant race.

Cuyler, under the coaching of Jack Fournier, developed into one of the greatest base stealers in the league. Carey is leading with 34; Cuyler and Heathcote of Chicago tied for second place with 23 each. The Dodgers, leading home run batters of the league, is banking in the total of 24, while Frisch of the Giants, is setting the pace in scoring, having crossed the plate 90 times, six within the last week.

Other leading batters: Fournier, Brooklyn, .344; Young, New York, .344; Bressler, Cincinnati, .344; Roush, Cincinnati, .343; Blades, St. Louis, .325; Blades, St. Louis, .325; Bottomley, St. Louis, .323; High, Brooklyn, .321; Kelly, New York, .318; Griggs, Chicago, .318.

VETERANS GOING GOOD
Veterans of the American League are gradually crowding their way toward the top. Following the example of Eddie Collins of the White Sox, Ty Cobb, pilot of the Tigers; Tris Speaker, leader of the Indians; and Harry Heilmann, Detroit slugger have worked themselves up among the leading ten.

Babe Ruth who continues to top the regulars dropped from his 400 mark of a week ago to 336. However, he still has a comfortable lead over Ed Fiske of the White Sox, who is in second place with 340. George Sinker, fell out of the 300 class and is way down in the list with an average of .298. Ruth failed to increase his record of thirty-eight homers but managed to get an average of .341 in a game in his last four contests, giving him 158 hits for a total of 314. Babe Ruth, leading his homers his hits include 25 doubles and seven triples. In scoring twice he ran his run getting record to 116.

Cobb has made the greatest number of hits in the league, turning in 113. Eddie Collins, failed to add to his string of 33 world bases, but still holds a safe lead over his rivals.

Miss Wills Playing Superb

BROOKLINE, Mass.—(By Associated Press).—Veteran tennis invaders were beaten back and veteran champions were dethroned when the Kinsey brothers of San Francisco, defeated Gerald Patterson and Pat O'Hara Wood of Australia, for the national doubles championship today and Miss Helen Wills and Vincent Richards won a sterling match from Mrs. Molla B. Mallory and W. T. Tilden II, national mixed doubles title for two years. It was a triumph for America's younger school of players.

The Kinseys-Robert G. and Howard O. defeated the Australian Davis cup stars, 7-5, 5-7, 7-9, 6-4, by winning six straight games in their fourth set after the Antipodeans had established a three game lead toward their winning set.

In order to insure local football fans the very best possible seats the local Alumni association plans to mail in all Lima reservations on the very opening day specified by the Ohio State University Athletic association. Application blanks and a copy of the Ohio State football schedule may be secured at the Y. M. C. A. All applications for seats should be turned in there.

While there will be a good representation of Allen-co football fans at all of the games in the stadium, the Chicago game on October 25 and the Michigan game on November 15 are proving most popular, according to reservations made to date.

The Michigan game, on November 15 will be the annual homecoming game and Ohio State athletic authorities expect to fill the big stadium again as it was for the Michigan dedication game in 1922. Advance reservations seem to indicate that tickets for the Michigan game will be at a premium around about the date of the game.

Paddock In Form Gets Record

NEW YORK.—(Associated Press).—Charley Paddock of the Los Angeles Athletic club today broke the world's record for the 250 yard dash when he ran the distance in 25.2 seconds at the senior Metropolitan A. A. U. track and field championships. The team championship was won by the New York Athletic club with 81 points. The Newark Athletic club was second with 54 points.

Paddock is cutting 2.5 of a second from the record made in 1888 by Charles Sherrill then of Yale and now a heraldic general, flushed away from a mediocre field at the run and gradually increased his lead to ten yards at the tape.

He recently equalled one of baseball's most unusual feats—that of getting six hits in as many times at bat in a single game. On another occasion he got five out of six.

GIBLON TAKES BIG RACE

CHICAGO.—The three year old Gblon, owned by C. W. The race was witnessed by 25,000 persons.

Gblon broke the track record in scoring his victory, running the distance in 1:57 1-5. The former record of 1:59 was established by Langerine during the present meeting.

Ohio State Gets Going Oct. 25

Monday, August 25, will be the final date for Allen-co alumni of Ohio State University to file applications for football tickets in the special Allen-co block of seats to be reserved for all gridiron games in the Ohio stadium this fall, according to T. Reid Alexander, secretary.

In order to insure local football fans the very best possible seats the local Alumni association plans to mail in all Lima reservations on the very opening day specified by the Ohio State University Athletic association. TRAFFIC CONGESTION RELIEVED BY SPEED

"STOP" PLAN IS ENFORCED

Thru Streets Permit Faster Movement of Autos

LAW VIOLATION ALLOWED

Radical Changes Are Made to Aid all Motorists

Traffic congestion is a problem that has long plagued the city of Lima. The city council has now passed a resolution to enforce a "stop" plan in the downtown area. This plan will allow for faster movement of autos through the city center.

That is a change from the old plan, which required cars to stop at every intersection. The new plan will allow cars to proceed through the city center without stopping.

It is an anomaly in the city's history, a practice of keeping the speed of vehicles down. The new plan will allow cars to proceed through the city center without stopping.

Now, after years of delay and practice, police officials and students of the city have decided to move to a new plan. The new plan will allow cars to proceed through the city center without stopping.

Instead of failing to do so, the city has finally decided to move to a new plan. The new plan will allow cars to proceed through the city center without stopping.

HIRE AUTO FOR WHOLE YEAR

Novel Rental Plan is Tried Out in England

LONDON, (Special)—Auto-

biles are being rented here for an entire year and the new kind of motorist hasn't the least worry about its maintenance.

This system has been inaugurated by a motor firm here, which manufactures cars listed at a selling price of $2147. For $1250 anyone may hire this auto for an entire year, and all the attendant worries of driving are taken off his shoulders besides.

This means that all repairs and adjustments are made free of charge, and all gasoline, oil, grease, tires and other accessories are furnished without cost.

The government tax, license fee and insurance charges are also paid by the company.

If the motorist happens to buy gasoline or oil on the road, his money is refunded by the firm.

If the car is laid up for repairs, he gets another car until the original car is ready for him.

In case of a breakdown, he telephones in to the company's service station and another auto is taken out to him while a wrecker car takes care of the disabled auto.

The only charges the motorist has to stand are those for storage, washing and cleaning. At the end of the year the car is revarnished free. At the end of two years, it is repainted.

Once a month the auto must be turned in for adjustment.

The charge of $1250 is made on the basis of 6000 miles. If the car is driven farther, an additional charge is made in proportion. If it covers less mileage, a proportional refund is made.

TWO SIMILAR YEARS

Farmers who remember the years of 1907 and 1917 think nothing unusual of the unseasonable weather we've had this year.

Conditions then were about like this season. Over a moderate area from the Ohio Valley eastward, the wet weather so delayed planting that the crops are less advanced than they were in many a year.

Mechanics Are Big Buyers Of Jewett Models

Month after month, the mechanic, skilled in his own line of work and imbued with a national knowledge of all things mechanical, has been either the leader in purchases of Paige and Jewett cars or has been among the first three classes of buyers to purchase the most of the Paige-Jewett Motor Car Co's products, says its president, Harry M. Jewett.

The distribution department of the Paige company reporting July sales has found the classification of foremen, millworkers, machinists, miners and skilled laborers again leading as buyers, says Jewett. This classification purchased 11.34 percent of the entire retail sales made by dealers of the company in the United States.

Merchants were second, purchasing 11.13 percent of the total sales; salesmen were third absorbing 8.86 percent, and manufacturers a close fourth taking 8.56 percent. The four above mentioned classifications have persistently led as purchasers of Paige and Jewett cars, according to Jewett.

The fifth largest purchasers of Paige and Jewett cars were women, buying in their own names. The steadily increasing percentage of Paige and Jewett cars being purchased by women backs up our argument that our products are more easily handled than any other on the market.

The needs for proper growth of pullets are 1—Plenty of house room and range 2—Good feeding 3—Shade 4—Cleanliness. Pullets grown under these conditions will give good results in egg production when they mature.

Washington, (Special)—Despite the threatening aspect of the foot-and-mouth disease in this country, Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture has deemed it best to withhold research work on this contagion.

The reason is that the foot-and-mouth disease spreads so fast and so dangerously that the germ cannot be separated long enough, with safety, to make experimentation possible.

In a recent letter explaining his viewpoint to the Los Angeles Medical association, of California, Wallace writes: "Our reasons for not permitting such experiments are: "First, only a cursory study of the disease could be made in infected areas under our system of prompt slaughter and burial of affected and exposed animals, unless the virus were propagated and kept on hand for an extended period after the disease would otherwise have been stamped out. "Second, there is little or no prospect that such a study would add anything to the knowledge that has been gained by the vast amount of experimental and research study by European investigators.

"Third, the difficulty of controlling the virus of this highly infectious malady and preventing the escape of the infective agent.

"Fourth, the probability that many of the states would immediately place embargoes upon practically all the products of the state in which investigations were being made.

"Fifth, the likelihood that any investigation or research study that might produce worth while results would have to be carried on for months and possibly years during which time the virus of the disease would be a potential menace to healthy, susceptible animals in the vicinity."

Wallace points to the failure of research on this subject in Europe, where the disease is practically endemic.

When Prof. Loeffler of Germany was carrying on his research at Berlin, the disease escaped and the German government was called on to pay damages for the large losses resulting. The British Ministry of Agriculture and Fisheries undertook to conduct a series of experiments at sea on an old war vessel equipped as a laboratory, but was forced to give up because it was found impossible to prevent the disease from control animals from contracting the disease.

In France investigators at the government farm near Alfort likewise were obliged to give up their experiments because, notwithstanding their specially equipped buildings and every known precaution, the malady could not be prevented from jumping from one barn to another.

BEWARE OF WEEDS

Weeds cost many farmers more than their value. The best selling price of land, reduce crop yield and spoil the soil. They should not be allowed to grow.

Butterfly Milk Calves

Rear dairy calves on butterfly milk and save half the cost. It is no longer necessary to use marketable milk or bother with calf meals or gruels, says R. H. Dush of the Kansas State Agricultural College. He has found dried buttermilk just as effective.

MANY PARTIES ENLIVEN DULL SUMMER MONTHS

BRIDES-TO-BE AND VISITORS
ARE HONORED

Shawnee Country Club and Delightful Homes of Hostesses Are Scenes of Interesting Mid-summer Social Events of Note

HOSTS of out-of-town guests, mid-summer marriages and announcements of approaching marriages in the early fall have been occasions of unusual enthusiasm for honoring guests and brides-to-be at the most delightful and attractive functions during the past week.

One of the most attractive affairs of the week was the exquisitely appointed dinner at the Shawnee Country Club Friday evening when Mrs. C. F. Lufkin entertained forty-two guests in compliment to Mrs. Paul Ashton, of Hollywood, Cal., and Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Drake, who leave soon for Los Angeles to make their future home.

Another delightful affair was given for Mrs. Ashton Tuesday afternoon when Mrs. Henry Deisel, Sr., entertained with a bridge tea at her home. Seven tables were filled for the card games and tea was served at five o'clock.

Mrs. Harry Solomon presided at a mah jongg tea at her home Thursday honoring her houseguests, Miss Beatrice Schlesinger of Cleveland and Miss Dorothy Levay of Knoxville, Tenn. Covers were laid for sixteen guests.

Mrs. E. J. Coleman, of Louisville, Ky., house guest of Miss Gertrude Barrett entertained twenty friends at her home Tuesday evening complimenting Mrs. Coleman and on Thursday afternoon Mrs. J. A. Rambo was hostess to a few friends in her honor. Miss Helen Walters entertained at her home Friday night for Mrs. Coleman, seven tables being filled for bridge.

Mrs. Chalmers Brown presided at a one o'clock luncheon Monday at the Shawnee Country Club honoring two out-of-town guests, Mrs. W. J. Galvin, of Wilmington and Mrs. E. E. Stinson of St. Marys. These guests were also honored Monday night when Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Bandler entertained with a six o'clock dinner at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Fess and daughter, Francine, W. Elm-st., have returned from a motor trip to Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Alligre, Elmwood Place, and Mrs. William Alligre and daughter, Miss Jane, have returned from Green Lake, Michigan, where they spent the summer months.

Mrs. John Williams has returned to her home in Middletown, after spending the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Krite, W. Market-st.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Kerr and daughter Helen, and Arthur Myers of Titusville, Pa., returned after a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Benn, W. High-st. Miss Emma Benn accompanied them home for a several weeks' stay.

Dr. and Mrs. Raymond David Kable issued invitations last week to the marriage of their daughter, Katherine Isabelle, to Oliver Lockwood Williams, which will be solemnized Wednesday, September 3, at Trinity Methodist church. A reception at the Hotel Barr will immediately follow the ceremony.

Members of the Coterie club were entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Smith, E. High-st. Miss Florence Syga was the only guest of the afternoon.

Mrs. R. D. Charmerlain and Mrs. Clifford Stanner were successful in the contests and at four o'clock, a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess. She was assisted by her daughters, Misses Elizabeth and Katherine Smith. The club will meet in two weeks with Mrs. Carl Leigh, Prospect-av.

Miss Leona Rosenheim, State-st., is the guest of friends in Kenton.

Miss Myra Fridley will be hostess to members of the Phi Gamma Sigma Sorority at her home, Lincoln-av., Tuesday evening.

Marathon Review, No. 188 of Women's Benefit Association, returned last week from Port Huron, Mich., where they won honors for being the largest and best drilled team. Lima No. 43 was awarded the smaller prizes.

NEW HATS PRESENT DIFFERENT MILLINERY LINE

The fall hat is ready to make its bow to the waiting world of women, and here are three of its most subtle interpretations.

These models, you will notice, each present a new line in millinery and are actually new styles.

The high-crowned mushroom shapes of black beaver cloth with a moire ribbon stick-up and two birds, heads for trimming is the shape that is taking the place of the cloche.

Direct from Paris is the black satin model with the smashing black velvet bow and the upturned brim. There is a suggestion of the Directoire here which will probably develop with the season.

This square, or directoire crown, as it is sometimes called is such a becoming mode — especially as it is interpreted in some of the new fall hats.

Most of the interest of the hat mode this season is centered on brims this season and invariably the brim turns up; or should.

The upturned brim of the beaver cloth model gives something of the effect of the tam o'shanter, but it is a little more tailored and much smarter. The broad ribbon bow across the back adds to the youthfulness.

Faurot Re-Opens With "Polly Preferred" As Week-End Attraction

New Orpheum Presents Harvey D. Orr's "Come Along Mary" Company

With the New Orpheum already open and the Faurot planning to reopen Saturday, the theatrical season in Lima seems ready to step into the fall and winter swing.

From the first announcements it would seem as the vaudeville will not be presented as such during the coming season. Theatrical productions will be confined to musical comedies, legitimate dramas, and artists of the musical world.

The nearest approach to vaudeville will probably be seen at the New Orpheum where specialties are an integral part of the "vest pocket" musical comedy programs. The Faurot is introducing an innovation with its opening show. This is a traveling stock company circuit in which four companies will appear here, one each week. Thus a company will return here every four weeks and a new show of a different type will be presented Saturday and Sunday of each week. They will be known as the Interstate Players and will be presenting "Polly Preferred," one of the recent successful plays. It comes highly recommended. The engagement will last Saturday, Sunday and Labor Day.

Harvey D. Orr's musical comedy company will present "Come Along Mary" during the coming week at the New Orpheum.

FAUROT TO OPEN

Interstate Players Present "Polly Preferred"

Reopening of the Faurot theatre on Saturday of this week will present to Lima for the first time the Interstate Players, an organization comprising four companies of accomplished actors who will present many of the latest dramatic and comedy successes.

"Polly Preferred" will be the opening offering and will be seen Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Matinees will be given Sunday and Monday, Labor Day. On the following Saturday the second company will appear for a two day play, presenting a different type of production.

"Polly Preferred" can be classed as a comedy drama. There is plenty of comedy but at the same time there are occasions when the tone of the play becomes more serious and the many interesting twists add zest to the offering. There are six scenes in the three acts.

Bob Cooley, salesman who has just lost his job, meets Polly Brown, chorus girl who has quit her job to escape the attentions of a Wall Street broker, in an Automat and becomes interested in each other.

He decides to make her his "job" and proceeds to "sell" her to the best of his ability. His boss, a French fellow, who is two and they start their adventure. Disaster almost overtakes them from time to time but when a motion picture director becomes interested in her and she finally rises to stardom success is theirs. The ending of the interesting play is novel and it is said by New York reviewers who saw the original production that there is never a dull moment during the play. Practically every reviewer calls it one of the better plays of the year and they have pronounced it very clever and interesting.

A varied program of road shows and leading artists of the musical world has been announced by the Faurot for the coming fall and winter season. Plans are being made to bring a number of the leading productions and stars to Lima.

HOOT GIBSON

"Broadway or Bust" Is Rialto Feature

"Broadway or Bust" is the title of the Hoot Gibson feature which will be seen at the Rialto today and Monday. It is said to contain an unusual amount of droll comedy and to show Gibson to good advantage.

The story is that of a pair of cowboys who desire to see the gay white lights of Broadway. The big kick in the film comes when the boys ride up to the Broadway hotel and engage a suite of rooms for themselves and their horses.

A very good love story is also interwoven.

John Gilbert, well known here for a number of successes, will be seen Tuesday and Wednesday in "A Man's Mate." This is said to be a very good picture.

On Thursday and Friday Herbert Rawlinson will be seen in "The Dancing Cheat," a late release.

While the cast will not be so large as the original production, the scenery, wardrobe and the

MOVIE GIRLS IN REAL JOBS

"Missing" Extras Are Found Holding Down Positions In Business World.

Department stores, kitchens, laundries are some of the ports of "missing girls" who have forsaken the movies or been forsaken by them, says Henry Otto, who has probably employed as many beautiful extras as any contemporary picture director.

Otto has kept an accurate record of hundreds of movie novices employed in his productions during the past two years.

Of 647 extra players he has attempted to trace since their advent at the motion picture studios—

One hundred four have married.

Seventy have become store clerks.

Thirty-one have enrolled in business schools.

One hundred twelve work in laundries.

Ten have gone to the speaking stage.

One hundred thirty-two have remained in the movies, three of that number having been promoted to featured prominence.

The whereabouts of 188 is unknown.

According to Otto's unusual record, the number above accounted for were women of exceptional beauty and grace. Some were uneducated while others had college training. Some were girls of considerable culture, and a majority of them were unusually ambitious.

Approximately one-fifth of the girls who within the past two years entered the first fringe of pictures under Director Otto's observation have managed in some fashion to survive the vicissitudes of the profession. And that is rather a high proportion in a broad survey of the industry's personnel.

Otto's comment on the "port of missing extras" was occasioned by his scanning of card indexes identifying players for his Fox feature productions, "The Temple of Venus" and "Dante's Inferno," soon to be released.

British women are greater stage actresses than their American sisters, but our movie stars far surpass Britain's feminine screen players, says Maurice Elvey, late director in chief for Stoll Pictures of London, now a member of the William Fox studio directorial staff.

The police and voice of the English women, says Elvey, gives them an edge on the speaking stage. Early training in dramatics and all-around arts and unusual educational advantages are features in the latter's supremacy.

On the other hand, the American movie actress is easily paragoned in vivacity and ability to mimic, says the man who is known in European pictures and theatrical circles as "the director of lovely women."

"Her Husband's Wives," a story by Barbara La Marr, is to be Elvey's initial production at the Fox studios.

MELODRAMA

"Rupert of Hentzau" will be the feature attraction at the Majestic theatre during the first part of this week. It will be seen for the first time today.

This production is a sequel to the "Riders of Zenda" one of the most fascinating melodramas that has been screened during the past few years. In this play the characters are followed thru numerous events until an ending, much more satisfactory than that seen in the former picture, is reached.

Elaine Hammerstein, Bert Lytell and Lew Cody are three of the well known players who will be seen in the production. The picture will be shown Sunday and Monday.

STAGE CALLS

Robert Edson is contemplating taking a flyer in vaudeville in a sketch called "The Schenckers." "Our Bob" can write his own ticket on the screen, so it isn't that, like Dieter, he pines for the footlights every so often.

On Friday and Saturday "Half a Dollar Bill" will be shown. It has an all star cast and will be accompanied by the Third Dimension Movie.

MOVIES DRAW GREATER INTEREST

FANS READY FOR WINTER ATTRACTIONS

Valentino at Quilna; Sigma To Show American Legion Picture

Wesley Barry at Lyric; Big Program Outlined by Majestic

Possibility of cooler weather has aroused interest in the program at the various motion picture theatres. Hot weather has not deterred attendance but the desire of the public for motion pictures is soon to be experienced.

"Monsieur Beaucaire," with Rudolph Valentino, is the only new picture at the Quilna and is booked for the whole week. At the Sigma Douglas MacLean is being seen for the final time in "The Yankee Consul." Beginning Monday the American Legion will present "The Spirit of the U. S. A." with Johnnie Walker. "Bright Lights of Broadway" will be seen Tuesday.

Wesley Barry in "The Printer's Devil" will be the attraction at the Lyric today and Monday, being replaced Tuesday by Agnes Ayres in "When a Girl Loves."

A full program is outlined by the Majestic. Today and Monday will be "Rupert of Hentzau," Tuesday and Wednesday, "Scout of the Sea," Thursday, "The Count of Monte Cristo," Friday and Saturday, "Half a Dollar Bill."

At the Lyric "Broadway or Bust" will be seen today and Monday; "A Man's Mate" Tuesday and Wednesday, and "The Dancing Queen" Thursday and Friday.

WESLEY BARRY

Beautiful Star Now Playing at the Lyric

"The Printer's Devil," Wesley Barry's vehicle at the Lyric theatre today and thru Monday, is so real you almost smell the ink and sense the inside of the printing office.

It is an interesting picture of the small town printing office where the "devil" is forced to do all the cleaning out and odd jobs that are found necessary. Barry, as the troubled faced kid, plays a good part and shows up perhaps better than usual.

Sidney Fleischer is robbed of his money. He meets Vivian Gates, daughter of the village banker, and decides to remain in Bragsville. He buys the local weekly and starts a tirade against the local power company, owned by Vivian's father. Sperry, rival for Vivian's hand, is also his opponent in the power company fight and the former says he has no funds to make the final payment on the paper. Brick Hubbard, played by young Barry, and Vivian attempt to aid him in a series of exciting adventures during which Brick captures two thieves, all is ended satisfactorily.

"When a Girl Loves," which will be shown at the Lyric beginning Tuesday is a powerful story of two English nobles who love each other but were separated by the revolution. Michael becomes a great singer and Sasha, his sweetheart, goes to America in search of freedom.

The two meet under exceptional circumstances but Sasha is heartbroken when she learns that Michael is married. Goodnatured rivalry between the two who married Sasha and Michael will lead to thrilling adventures and final happiness for the two.

Agnes Ayres, Percy Marmont, Ralph Williams, George Seigmann, Mary Alden and others take up the unusual cast.

VALENTINO

"Monsieur Beaucaire" on Quilna Program

"Monsieur Beaucaire," with Rudolph Valentino in the title role will be the fitting successor to "The Covered Wagon" at the Quilna theatre during the coming week. It is a picturization of both Washington's novel and the story of which are well known successes.

Valentino will be seen in a different role than that in which he has been seen in the past. He takes the role of a man which he made famous without moviedom and hides himself as it were, in a role of a man who is really a man. His glossy hair is covered by a white wig and the production is elaborate and extremely pleasing to the eye.

This favorite star has been absent from the screen for two years and his return has been awaited with great interest. He will be found to be the same favorite although in many in his audience he will be lost to sight during the thrilling and colorful scenes of the fascinating story. This is said to be a production which because of the exceptional story rather than because of a desire to present a popular star.

"Monsieur Beaucaire" is the story of the court of the French king Louis XV where love and intrigue were the chief pastimes. Valentino as the handsome Duc de Chartres is in the very midst of the fast moving life of the French court and his brilliant sword battles with the henchmen of an English lord will please every fan. He is forced to flee France be-

LAURA IS IN LOVE--WHAT?

Fair Actress Reveals New Powers in Latest Offering.

Laura La Plante has fallen in love. Laura of the cool gray eye and blonde hair; Universal's stellar ingenue who looks the very essence of flapperism but who has never flapped.

This surprise, isn't the conventional way to begin a movie review. But since the fair LaPlante gives by all odds her most striking and convincing performance in "Butterfly," a difficult role to which she brings a new awareness in its amorous subtleties, the conclusion seems not inappropriate.

It may, on the other hand, be merely a stupid reviewer's groping on account for her professional transfiguration. "Butterfly" is a Universal screening of Kathleen Norris' novel, directed admirably by Clarence Brown. The story, handled with intimacy and finesse, relates the self-sacrifice of an elderly sister of an imperious, undiscovered young egomaniac who constantly invades the former's heart promises. The indulgent sister finally rebels when the "Butterfly," already married, seeks to annex "Hillary's" beloved.

Members of the American Legion will have charge of performances, the production being shown here under their auspices. Special features are being planned to make the showing one of the best they have ever attempted. Funds from the showing will go to carry on the work of the William Gallagher post here.

"Bright Lights of Broadway," a picture of the great metropolis with Doris Kenyon, Harrison Ford and Lowell Sherman, will be seen at the Sigma for two days only, Saturday and Sunday. In this story a young girl from a quiet country village is followed to New York City and thru a series of adventures that, according to those familiar with the night life along Broadway, are said to be a near reflection of actual conditions.

On Labor Day Colleen Moore will be presented in "The Perfect Flapper."

INJURED Jack Dempsey is completing his pictures at Universal City under difficulties. Since his recent auto smashup he has suffered with daily headaches. A large lump has appeared on his neck.

NEW JOB Richard Dix's first starring picture for Paramount is under way at the Long Island studio of that concern. It is titled "Manhattan."

Big Sigma Pictures Get Under Way During Week

"Spirit of U. S. A." "Bright Lights of Broadway." "Perfect Flapper" to Show

The present week will see three more of the splendid pictures programmed by the Sigma theatre beginning Monday.

The "Spirit of the U. S. A." presented in conjunction with the American Legion; "Bright Lights of Broadway" and what is said to be one of the best pictures of the season, "The Perfect Flapper," will all have their first showings within the next eight days.

Great interest has been manifested in the picture being shown by the local American Legion post. "The Spirit of the U. S. A." is said to be one of the very best patriotic pictures of the year and it has been hailed throughout the country as an exceptional attraction. Funds from its presentation will help swell the Legion treasury and be used in their rehabilitation work.

"Bright Lights of Broadway" is another picture that movie fans are advised not to miss. It tells the inside story of the great white way and is said to be one of the most pretentious productions of its kind ever shown here.

On Labor Day, however, will come the big attraction, one of the high points of the present season. Colleen Moore will be seen in "The Perfect Flapper" said to be her greatest picture.

Reports reaching Lima indicate that "The Perfect Flapper" will break all previous records for genuine amusement and it has been beautiful girls in films, gives the role distinction and rare dignity by refusing to posture as a martyr.

The two most compelling scenes are where "Hillary" rebels against further sacrifice, gently but firmly to the utter amazement of the younger sister, and where Kenneth Harlan, as "Butterfly's" husband, confronts his trifling wife and her sister in the apartments of Norman Kerry in the role of a Polish musician.

NOVEL COMEDY Harlan does his part with quiet conviction, conventionally, without much latitude. Kerry firmly refuses the challenge to make of his role the usual temperamental portrait of an alien artist. Perhaps he is a shade too languid, Margaret Livingston, acquiring a self abnegation which only makes the "Butterfly" the more vain and frivolous. But Ruth Clifford, T. Roy Barnes and an uncredited fat girl provide novel comedy.

Invest in Lima Real Estate

A glance at any daily paper will reveal the fact that prosperity is just around the corner. Business conditions are "looking up" in most of our larger cities, especially in the east. Lima will soon be reached by this business increase and as soon as it does arrive, rents will go up and real estate values will increase.

Our homes are being offered for sale on very easy terms and at low prices. Isn't it logical that now is the time to buy, just before the increase? Call us up and let us explain our Partial Payment Plan and show you some real homes.

Better Buy A Home First

Pleasure and luxury have their place, but when you spend your money, isn't it better to buy something of lasting value, to create an asset, not an expense item?

The independence which home ownership brings, will make it possible a little later for you to enjoy many of those luxuries and pleasures.

When you invest in a home you are buying happiness and contentment for yourself and your family.

We can tell any of the following properties on our easy payment plan.

ORENA AVENUE BETWEEN KIBBY AND EUREKA STS. New 5-room bungalow with hardwood floors throughout, built-in features in kitchen, full cemented basement, hot air furnace, gas grate in bath room. Street paved. Price $4,750.00.

WHY YOU SHOULD BUILD NOW

Material

Building material prices are below normal due to period of depression just over. Lumber that under ordinary conditions would be shipped green and unseasoned is now well seasoned and will avoid much of the shrinkage and warping so common to new houses. Prices and quality will never be equalled for some time.

WHY YOU SHOULD BUILD NOW

Labor

At the time when the shops are not so rushed is the time for the home builder to save money on the labor that goes to make a home expensive and prohibitive. Labor conditions were never more to the working man's liking when he turns employer.

WHY YOU SHOULD BUILD NOW

Ready Money

It is not necessary to have thousands in the bank in order to build your own home. If you have saved a little and own a lot that is clear you will experience no trouble in getting any building and loan to advance you the required capital.

Any building and loan will gladly give you any advice you may need along this line.
